

Abstract

The invention relates to methods and algorithms for processing polymer analysis data. More specifically, the data is analyzed in order to align, orient and discern individual polymer data from a population data set.

5

10

15

20

25

30

35